

EXAMPLE OF A DESCRIPTION OF A PERSON SOMEONE ADMIRES

Ever since I first met my admirable friend Lily on a holiday camp several years ago, she has been my favourite, irreplaceable companion. My kindest spirit.

The first thing you notice about her are her blue eyes, small upturned nose and large sensuous mouth, which make her face very photogenic. At first glance you can also see her long, blond hair, as well as slender body which makes her look really amazing. As a rule she enjoys wearing atypical clothes.

The most characteristic thing about Lily is her unprecedented sense of humour. It is rare to cheer everybody up in different situations, yet she always manages to do it. Moreover, she is the life and soul of a party, which makes her extremely sociable. Pointing out her tendency to be incredibly precise. Some people claim she may seem quick-tempered but in reality deep down, she is really an amiable person.

Lily has a very unpredictable lifestyle, for this reason she spends a lot of time exercising. In her spare time she goes either to a swimming pool or climbing in the mountains, which I admire most. In the future she would love to fulfill one of her childhood dreams, namely to become an actress.

To sum up, Lily really deserves admiration due to her ambition and optimism. She shows people how to be a better person. I hope our friendship will never end.